Recommended bundle and resources:

- Building a Culture of Learning by ATD Research
- The Change Book Change the Way You Think About Change by ATD Press
- ATD Research: Kohler: Making Learning a Way of Life by ATD Research

- 31% of organizations have well developed learning cultures
- Learning Cultures leads to:
 - Higher individual performance
 - Higher organizational performance
 - Better response to change
 - Greater engagement

Keynote speaker:

Simon Sinek

Bookstores have entire "self help" sections and not a single "help others" book.

~ Simon Sinek

"We need to treat people as people, human beings as human beings, and be the type of managers that always help people around us."

Except they die died off and we survived. Not just because o

“Working hard for something we don’t care about is called stress. Working hard for something we love, it’s called passion”

“When you are a CEO you are responsible for the people, who are responsible for the people, who are responsible for the results.”

Simon Sinek: Leadership Lessons

- We always respond to the environment we are in.
- Organizations are full of cynicism, distractions, paranoia, self interest and mistrust.
- Create a circle of safety, a sense of togetherness; build trust and cooperation.
- Find a vision. You need a vision you are working towards.
- Leadership is a choice, a daily practice.
- There’s an expectation that a leader would run to protect us from danger.
- Work for a company whose vision you believe in.
- Innovation is about risk.
- Consistency is more important than intensity.
- “People don’t buy what you do; people buy why you do it.”

Happiness is mainly driven by 4 chemicals in our body:

E – Endorphin

It makes the pain go away. We are made for endurance; we don’t give up because we are tired. Laughing for example.

D – Dopamine

The feeling of accomplishment, like when you find your keys or when you hit the goal. People can become addicted to performance. In a dopamine-based reward system people only want to make the numbers.

S – Serotonin

It’s the leadership chemical. Public recognition; it makes us feel valuable and people prefer to receive it in person, it’s close to self-confidence.

O – Oxytocin

The feeling of love, active kindness, desire to pay it forward. Human touch. It binds us to each other. We shake hands in business.

Keynote speaker:

Dr. Brené Brown

“A leader has only one job: excavate all things that are happening that’s getting in the way of good work.”

DARING GREATLY

How the Courage
to Be Vulnerable
Transforms
the Way We Live, Love,
Parent,
and Lead

BRENÉ
BROWN,
Ph.D., LMSW

Author of
The Gifts of Imperfection
and I Thought It Was Just Me

“Without failure there is no innovation”

“The most undervalued seats in the arena of leadership: empathy and self-compassion”

Dr. Brené Brown: Vulnerability and Courage (the invisible army)

- Courage is a heart word, tell the story of who you are from your heart.
- Narrative leads behavior, our brain is wired for story (Beginning, middle, and end)
- Emotion get the first crack to make sense of a difficult situation: not cognition.
- The four pillars of courage:
 - vulnerability
 - clarity of values
 - trust
 - rising strong
- Courage is teachable: show up and be seen, even if you can't control the outcome.
- As a leader you need to address emotion, behavior and cognition. Thought, affect, and behavior. Will I choose courage or being comfortable?
- Talk about the things nobody wants to talk about.

- Vulnerability: uncertainty, risk, emotional exposure. It's our most accurate measure of courage. The biggest fear trigger at work: fear of irrelevance.
- Clarity of values
 - show up in the arena, be you, don't armor up or be defensive
 - put ourselves out there
- Trust
 - Trust is built in small moments.
 - It is important to be tuned in and connected every day.
 - The keys to trust (BRAVING):
Boundaries, reliability, accountability, vault: no gossip, integrity
non-judgement, generosity
- Rising strong
 - when we deny our stories, they define us.
 - when we own our stories, we get to write the ending.

Keynote speaker:

Jeremy Gutsche

“The catch is that we are in history’s highest rate of change. Where do you start?”

A large, bright red screen serves as a backdrop for the speaker. It features several circular icons, each containing a different symbol. Below these icons, the text "3. Convergence" and "6. Divergence" is visible. Other partially visible text includes "Cyclical", "Redirection", and "5. Re". The screen is angled slightly to the right.

“There are always hints that put you toward your next innovation.”

“A company’s culture can be its seed to its own demise.”

Jeremy Gutsche:

Better and Faster: The Proven Path to Unstoppable Ideas

- Almost all innovation happens by making connections between fields that other people don’t realize.
- The secret to remarkable success:
 - hard work
 - an overlooked opportunity - adaptation, chaos, opportunity
- We repeat what led to last year’s harvest
- Three traps of a farmer
 - with success we become complacent
 - we become repetitive
 - we become too protective of egos
- The habits of a hunter:
 - insatiable - never done, always looking for what’s next
 - curious - looking to other industries
 - willing to destroy
- Six patterns of opportunity
 - acceleration - rethink what people really want
 - cyclicity- since your last reinvention, how much have styles & culture CHANGED?
 - convergence - no one person invents most innovation - you don’t need a big idea, you need a little idea - you increase your odds of winning by aligning yourself to many trends - what other services could be combined - what companies could be collaborated with
 - Reduction- what parts of your business do consumers CARE about?
 - redirection
 - divergence - we want to be different - opposing the mainstream fuels success
